January Meeting

We had the pleasure of James Arrow, one of the top risk management professionals in our industry present at our technical meeting this month. The meeting was held on January 23, 2019 at the Williams Building. In addition to the folks pictured below we also had some attendees join via skype.

James presented on the topic: "Utilizing a QRA Maturity Model for Continuous Improvement". It was interesting to see the different levels of risk companies can strive to achieve. It was encouraging to hear how we can take the role to champion better risk management within our companies.
